Gospel Reflection

John 17:1-11

Jesus has been taken up into heaven as we begin today's First Reading. His disciples - including the Apostles and Mary—return to the upper room where He celebrated the Last Supper.

There, they devote themselves with one accord to prayer, awaiting the Spirit that He promised would come upon them.

The unity of the early Church at Jerusalem is a sign of the oneness that Christ prays for in today's Gospel. The Church is to be a communion on earth that mirrors the glorious union of Father, Son and Spirit in the Trinity.

Jesus has proclaimed God's name to His brethren. The prophets had foretold this revelation—a new covenant by which all flesh would have knowledge of the Lord.

By the new covenant made in His blood and remembered in every Eucharist, we know God as our Father. This is the eternal life Jesus promises. And this is the light and salvation we sing of in today's Psalm.

As God made light to shine out of darkness when the world began, He has enlightened us in Baptism, making us new creations, giving us knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Christ.

Our new life is a gift of "the Spirit of glory," we hear in today's Epistle. Made one in His name, we are given a new name—"Christians"—a name used only here and in two other places in the Bible. We are to glorify God, though we will be insulted and suffer because of this name.

But as we share in His sufferings, we know we will overcome and rejoice when His glory is once more revealed. And we will dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of our lives.

The Sisters of St. Francis' missionaries will be speaking at Sunday Masses June 10-11. The Sisters serve the poor, with foreign missions in Mexico and home missions in Appalachia. In remote areas of Mexico they work to build faith communities where there are no priests for regular Sunday Masses. Sisters also give children living in extreme poverty the opportunity to obtain an education plus emergency needs of food and medicine. Appalachian ministries include faith development and pastoral care, adult literacy, and emergency outreach of food, clothing, and shelter for the poor. Please help make a difference in the lives of those who are poor with your financial support.
